Editor New York Journal: Dear Sir-It gives us great pleasure to state that an advertisement under "Business Property to Let," which we gave to your representative for insertion in the Journal, commencing last Sunday, brought us a desirable tenant on Monday morning, and since then three other apparently equally desirable applicants whom we could not accommodate.

We may state that we inserted the same advertisement one week previously in the Sunday Herald, and repeated it during the week, and once in the World, without producing a single appli-

The Herald and World advertisements cost us 25 per cent more than the same advertisement in the Journal, and we, as business men, who must judge by results, have reached the conclusion that our future advertising shall go to the Journal.

If we draw any comparisons as to respective circulations, judging the number of applications resulting from our Journal advertisement, being 4, and from our Herald and World advertisements, being o, we are led to believe that the Journal's circulation must have far more influence than that of the Herald and World. Yours respectfully, ED FISCHER & CO., 127 Duane Street, City.
